

WHY KEEP IN TOUCH?

Building your CV

Whether you've started thinking about it now, or you need a helping hand in the future, your old teachers might be able to offer advice/opportunities to gain work experience and learn new skills.

Staying connected

Updates on news, upcoming events and opportunities to get involved sent directly to your inbox.

Getting a job

Every year, we'll send a summary of useful links that will help with finding jobs, placements or internships and just other opportunities we think will be of use.

Volunteer

Just because you've left, it doesn't mean you have to stop getting involved in the things you enjoy. For instance, you could help coach a school sports team, support in a drama workshop or write/edit pieces for our newsletters.

Giving something back

Would you have benefitted from hearing from former students in further education or jobs while you were at school? Keep in touch and, a little further down the line, it'd be amazing if we could invite you back to talk about your experiences to students in your old seats!

Asking for a reference

If you stay in touch, your old teachers might be able to help you secure a job in the future by providing references to potential employers.
